The Great Kidney Medicine Fulfills Its Mission

I was afflicted with bladder trouble. I suffered great pain that the doctor had to take my urine. After the doctor had treated me for two weeks, I did not get any better. Remembering that a few doses of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root completely relieved my mother-in-law, after all the doctors who were called on her case had failed to do her any good, I asked my husband to get me a bottle of Swamp-Root, which he did, and I took it and threw the doctors' preparations away, because immediately after I started taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root I was greatly relieved. My husband was so pleased he said I should take one dozen bottles of Swamp-Root, but by the time I had taken seven bottles I was completely restored to health. That was six years ago, and I have not taken any medicine since. My weight is 195 pounds, have three children, do my own work in a house of 12 rooms, and keep boarders. Very truly yours,

MRS. ANNIE BAUGHMAN, 657 Newell street, Barberton, Ohio. Personally appeared before me this 19th day of December, 1914, Mrs. Annie Baughman, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

FORCE RECOGNITION OF AMERICAN RIGHTS

Gore Resolution Would Make Sale by Americans of Contraband to London Declaration Signatory Interfering with American Trade.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Resolutions to make it a felony for any American to sell contraband to any signatory power to the declaration of London, which is interfering with American trade and to make it a felony for banks to act as agents or make loans for any such power or ally were introduced yesterday by Senator Gore. He believes their passage would force recognition of the neutral trading rights of the United States.

WILSON TO TALK DEFENSE.

Series of Speeches His Possible Programme.

Washington, Jan. 11.—President Wilson possibly may put the question of national defense before the country in a series of speeches as one means of getting the necessary legislation through Congress.

The president yesterday received several invitations to speak at banquets or meetings here, in Baltimore and New York within the next month, and other invitations are known to be coming. Officials intimated yesterday that the president might take advantage of the invitations to lay the administration plan for national defense directly before the people. As soon as the submarine controversy is entirely cleared up, the president intends to devote his whole attention to getting the national defense plans through Congress. Beginning today, the president will confer frequently with House and Senate leaders on the subject.

NEW BLOW AT DRUG FIENDS

U. S. Supreme Court Declares "Misbranding" Law Applies to Enclosed Printed Matter as Well as to Label.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—The Sherman amendment of 1902 to the federal pure food law, declaring drugs to be misbranded if the package or label bears or contains false or fraudulent statements regarding the curative or therapeutic effects thereof, was upheld as constitutional yesterday by the supreme court.

The amendment aimed at the sale of falsely labelled nostrums, and was enacted by Congress after the supreme court held that the original pure food law did not cover false labelling or description of worthless drugs. The medicine manufacturer who asked the supreme court to declare the amendment unconstitutional contended that the prohibition against misbranding applied to the label and not to printed matter in the package.

"Congress deliberately was aiming at statements within the package," says the decision upholding the amendment in all respects.

The case was ordered reversed and remanded to the lower New York court with orders to dismiss without prejudice.

BEGIN ON BIG BILLS

House Committees Start on Important Hearings on Measures

THEY INCLUDE APPROPRIATIONS

Little Activity as Yet Concerning Defense—The Winter Routine

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—In spite of a program of speechmaking in the House yesterday the House committee actually got down to work yesterday morning and began hearings on important bills. Four big appropriation bills thus came up for preliminary consideration—the navy bill, the army bill, the agricultural appropriation bill, and the postoffice bill. Before the public lands committee the conservationists and their opponents argued on the stock grazing or homestead bill; the labor committee undertook to hear the southern manufacturers in opposition to the child labor bill; the committee on immigration and naturalization considered the immigration bill, which is one of the principal items in the program of organized labor. Claims and judiciary also met to go over legislative matters referred to them early in the session.

As if to make up for its unprecedented tardiness in getting down to business the House yesterday morning and afternoon actually showed symptoms of activity. Yet this activity will not bear fruit for some time to come. While it may be expected that many pieces of legislation which passed the House last year and which failed of passage through the Senate will be refurbished and rushed through, there is little indication of speed in the framing of really important legislation of the session—the national defense bill. The hearings before the committees which have measures before them are being very slimly attended, in spite of the fact that high officials of the administration and officers of both branches of the service are on the stand.

Later in the week the rules committee will hear Representative Clyde Tamm of Illinois and A. P. Gardner of Massachusetts on the subject of government ownership of munitions plants, and the ways and means committee will give a hearing to many of the best known experts on dyestuffs who are coming under the auspices of Representative E. J. Hall of Connecticut.

In short, the House has not firmly begun its winter routine, but it has begun it slowly and with very little enthusiasm. In the local phrase: "The capital is dead," though the Democratic party apparently still lives.

LESS VICE IN NEW YORK.

Rocketeer Report States that Only 735 Disorderly Places are Found.

New York, Jan. 11.—Immorality and commercialized vice are being rapidly eradicated in New York City, according to a report made Sunday of a recent survey by the bureau of social hygiene, of which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is chairman. The report is intended to supplement an investigation made in 1912. The report states that on Nov. 1, 1915, only 735 disorderly places were found, as compared with 2,482 such places in 1912.

"Data secured during the present investigation show that collusion between exploiters of vice and officials in the police department has ceased," states the report. "Petty grafting still occurs. The man on the beat may take a small bribe to overlook a breach of the law, but this will not prevent a raid ordered from headquarters. This is, indeed, the largest and most prominent gain that can be reported. New York possesses a police administration absolutely honest at the top. The force has been immensely improved in morals by the improved tone of headquarters."

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" Ends All Stomach Distress in Five Minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—what portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; hoarse gas and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated, and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only 50 cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.—Adv.

A LUSITANIA SETTLEMENT?

An Agreement in the Matter Near, Thinks Washington

SEEKING WORD SOOTHING TO GERMANS

All Other Points at Issue Covered—Safety at Sea

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador and Secretary Lansing had another conference in the Lusitania negotiations yesterday which both agreed should be described as confidential. The ambassador expects to confer with the secretary again inside of a week, and not again on the subject. That fact is taken by those conversant with the status of the case to mean that Germany and the United States have approached a point in the negotiations where only one more exchange between Washington and Berlin will be necessary before the long controversy is ended.

American officials in all quarters described the situation as "very hopeful" and reflected the view that a satisfactory settlement is in sight which will include indemnities for the 115 American lives lost and some expression of regret or disavowal which will be mutually satisfactory to Germany and the United States.

President Wilson, Secretary Lansing and the German ambassador are practically the only officials in the secret of the negotiations, but it is known that the principal point which has been delaying the final settlement is the phraseology. Germany has contended that the best disavowal she could offer was her orders to submarine commanders not to repeat such an incident and that she could not disavow the action although she regretted the loss of so many Americans. The United States has been contending that the disavowal should be expressed in some way. It is believed that a form of expression has been found which will be satisfactory to both and that one more exchange between Washington and Berlin will settle the case unless something unforeseen comes up.

The result of the conference between the secretary and ambassador was communicated to President Wilson and at the White House a feeling of optimism was evident. It was understood that Mr. Lansing had presented to the ambassador yesterday the outlines at least of an agreement which would be satisfactory to the United States and which he hoped would also be satisfactory to Germany. It was said that both officials realized they were dealing with public opinion in their own countries.

It was stated authoritatively yesterday that the next step of the United States will be to ask all of the allies of Germany to agree that no vessels carrying Americans be attacked until passengers and crew have been placed in safety. Exactly what procedure will be followed was not revealed. The administration is said to take the position that as Germany now has agreed in all the principal points of the position of the United States, the only thing remaining to bring the negotiations to a satisfactory solution is for her allies to follow her lead.

BRITISH LABOR HEAD STILL IN CABINET

Arthur Henderson, Board of Education President, Was Reported to Have Resigned Jan. 6.

London, Jan. 11.—Arthur Henderson, whose resignation from the position of president of the board of education in the coalition ministry was reported on Jan. 6, is still a member of the cabinet. His efforts of members of the House of Commons yesterday to induce Premier Asquith to elucidate the present situation were without avail. All he would say was: "If and when a minister resigns and his resignation is accepted, prompt information is given to the House."

The premier declined to say if any resignations have been tendered, declaring that it is no part of his duty to disclose confidential communications between his colleagues and himself.

STILL PROBING CONSPIRACIES.

Federal Grand Jury Investigating Various Alleged Plots.

New York, Jan. 11.—Four witnesses were examined by the special federal grand jury which resumed the investigation into the activity of German agents in promoting strikes in munitions factories in the country.

One of the principal features which was expected to be brought to the attention of the grand jury was the attempt to bribe a high official in one of the largest international unions of America.

This official was prominent in the strikes in munitions plants of Bridgeport, Conn., and at the plant of the General Electric company in Schenectady, N. Y., last summer.

Whether or not the attempt at his corruption was successful will be one of the matters the jurors will be called upon to decide.

Otto Mottola, a New York City detective, who is charged with having been in the pay of Paul Koenig, head of the defective bureau of the Hamburg-American line, was placed on trial yesterday before Commissioner Dunham.

Koenig is at present under indictment charged with plotting to blow up the Welland canal in Canada in the interest of Germany.

Mottola is accused of being one of a large number of agents employed by Koenig in different parts of the country to further German plots against American neutrality.

He was identified by a witness yesterday as having been convicted in 1894 of the theft of $2,000 from a butcher for whom he then worked.

WILSON TO RUN DESPITE FOES

Bryan and Clark Get Together to Fight the President

BOTH HOLD TO THE PLATFORM

They Contend the One-Term Plank Is Binding on Wilson

Washington, Jan. 11.—President Wilson's attitude toward the single term plank of the Baltimore platform is now definitely known. The rule by which the president will be guided in this matter is given by the president himself in the following words:

"I shall most cheerfully abide by the judgment of my party and the public as to whether I shall be a candidate for the presidency again in 1916. I absolutely pledge myself to resort to nothing but public opinion to decide that question."

The president's willingness to run again provided he is satisfied that the party and the public want him, is disclosed in a letter which he wrote to A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania a few weeks before the inauguration in 1913. The letter was written while the resolution was pending before Congress which, if passed, would have limited the presidency to a single term for any one man in accordance with the pledge in the Baltimore platform.

Mr. Wilson's letter prevented the passage of the resolution and no attempt has been made since to revive the matter.

The general tenor of that letter has been known ever since it was written to Mr. Palmer, but the full text is now made public for the first time.

As to the test which Mr. Wilson prescribed for himself in regard to running for his second term his advisers contend that it already has been fulfilled and that both the party and the public have given satisfactory evidence of their desire that Mr. Wilson become a candidate again.

From the president himself, however, there has come no expression on this point, but it is assumed he would not permit his advisers to go ahead with their plans for 1916 unless he intended to run again. The likelihood is that the president will continue to remain silent on the question until state conventions and other Democratic gatherings have called upon him to run.

The president will encounter the opposition of William J. Bryan in his effort to be renominated. Mr. Bryan considers the single term plank of the Baltimore platform absolutely binding and intends to fight to the limit in support of it.

Up to this time there has been no definite, tangible evidence from the president on this subject, but now that the president's letter to Mitchell Palmer has been made public it is expected that Bryan will train his guns upon the president. There are already evidences that Democrats high in the party's councils are making their plans for a contingency that contemplates the possible retirement of the president from the race. It is known that some of Champ Clark's friends are moving on the assumption that the president at the last minute may decide to live up to the one-term plank of the Baltimore platform.

Strangely enough, the Bryan and the Clark forces are now joining hands. There is good reason to believe that steps already have been taken to bring Clark and Bryan closer together and that they are succeeding.

Members of Congress were greatly interested in the president's letter to Mitchell Palmer, and it will be made the basis of several debates.

Some features of it will be singled out for special comment. Many Republicans will want to know what the president meant when he wrote: "I should not be acting consistently with my ideal with regard to the rule of entire frankness and plain speaking that ought to exist between public servants and the public whom they serve if I did not speak out about it (the single term plank) without reserve of any kind."
